'Equire Davis, who committed Dr. Garrison to await a hearing, asid yesterday that he had not yet fixed upon a time for a hearing, and would not until be heard definitely from Colonel Arnett whether he would waive a hearing or have one. Colonel Arnett asked a little delay in order to decide this question, which is so far in doubt between him and his client.

There has been some discussion as to be the first of the stock with the days in the corner's pury, if in the opinion of the members Dr. Garrison was guilty of wilful murder, it is premeditated, or is justifiable. In the case of the Columbus tragedy recently the finding of the jury was in the wording of an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Last evening's Bellaire Tribune has the following: H. C. Myers, of Wheeling, who was foreman of the coroner's girry that investigated the Garrison.

The People's Services.

Evangelistic Hall was foll last evening, even standing room occupied, with an audience mostly of men. Mr. C. W. Sawyer made a spirited address, and the singing, under the coxduct of Miss Ina Read, with a large chorus, was excellent. A lady distributed new books to the people, No. 5, Sankey's latest, and everybody apparently went home happier and better for the popular service. Mrs. Hutchinson, of the Second Presbyterian Church, with a corps of ladies, will have charge on Thursday evening, and Mr. Sawyer will speak again on Friday and Saturday nights.

Mr. Birch on Japan. Mr. Birch on Japan.

The lecture delivered by Professor Birch last evening at the Young Men's Christian Association was well received by the audience. The lecturer talked for about three-quarters of an hour on "Japan—Its Manners and Customs," taking in the climate, the architecture of the temples and private dwellings, the marriage and burial ceremoutes, the food, the amusements, the language, the currency, the religion, the system of food, the amusements, the inagging, the currency, the religion, the system of agriculture and the government, past end present. The five years, residence in Japan of the ex-Consul afforded him opportunities for observation which, judging from his lecture, he has thor-oughly availed himself of.

At nine o'clock Monday night, while William Long, of 3814 Jacob street, his wife and sister, were away from home, their little daughter returned to the house from a visit to a playmate. In the house from a visit to a playmate. In the yard she saw a man, who asked her a great many questions about her father and mother, and when they were comping back. The little girl, frightened, ran to where her mother was visiting and brought her back.

When Mirs. Long returned she found that the natural gas in one of the grates upstairs was turned on full, though not burning, filling the room with gas. Mr. Long was sent for and found that nothing was missing. The office of Dr. Morrison, on the first floor, had also been visited, his gas light having been moved from the spot he left it on and turned on full.

What the object was cannot be ascertained. The valve in the natural gas grate had been turned off entirely by the family before leaving, and who opened it no one knows. A disastrous explosion would have been caused, had not Mrs. Long returned in time.

Yesterday morning a Miss Hasenauer, living on Eighteenth street, slipped and fell in front of the Maxwell residence, at Market and Twenty-first streets, while returning from market, and was badly stunned. The force at the Hook and Ladder house being informed of the occurrence brought the unconscious girl over to their headquarters in a chair. Dr. John R. Pipes was called in and bandaged the wound, a bad hole over the right eye. Miss Hasenauer recovered consciousness and sent for her brother and sister, who took her home.
